

Advice & Helpline Volunteers (Female applicants only)

Are you passionate about issues relating to gender inequality and ending violence against women and girls?

If so, come and volunteer for Women and Girls Network's Advice and Helpline Services!

Women and Girls Network (WGN) is a London based, feminist, women-only organisation; offering specialist wrap-around support for survivors of all forms of Violence Against Women and Girls.

We are seeking Advice & Helpline Volunteers (AHV) who will thrive in a multi-cultural feminist environment. In this unique role, you will act as the first point of contact; providing advice & support for women, girls and professionals who call our Advice Line and Helpline.

In this inspiring and fulfilling role, you will make a difference to survivor's lives, as well as gain practical experience in advice & support work within London's Violence Against Women and Girls sector.

We provide a comprehensive induction programme, ongoing support and access to specialist accredited training courses.

We are particularly seeking women who have availability to volunteer for daytime shifts.
