£25,500-£27,500 per annum, 35 hours per week (full-time)

Fixed-Term until March 2020

This post is based in Ealing (and includes travel across London)

The four Rape Crisis Centres, Galop, Survivors UK and the Havens have come together to pilot a 'Gateway' for sexual violence services in London. This Gateway is staffed by first contact 'Navigators' and, as the lead for this partnership, Women and Girls Network are looking to recruit an experienced and dynamic practitioner to take on this exciting role.

Navigators are responsible for providing an empowerment-focused, first contact response to survivors that helps them to make informed decisions about their care and access the services they need via a unique multi-agency partnership. This is a fast-paced role, delivered through an anti-oppressive, feminist framework that strives to address additional barriers and meet the diverse range of survivors needs.

Navigators are at the centre of this innovative pilot project and as such play an active role in service development. They are supported by a team of experienced practitioners and receive an ongoing package of specialist training and clinical supervision.

This is a unique opportunity for an experienced practitioner to play a critical role in the development and delivery of an innovative new service which improves responses, access and support to survivors of sexual violence in London. Navigators work from a person centred, trauma informed and survivor led, integrated approach ensuring individualised care pathways that are rooted in empowerment and best practice.

We are looking for highly motivated, passionate individual with experience of supporting survivors of sexual violence and addressing barriers to services. The successful candidate will have exceptional communication skills, strong IT skills and the ability to work in a fast-paced, telephone focused role. If you have these skills, and want to join this unique and innovative project, we would love to hear from you.
